Morning Change

Sugar stock took an interesting turn this morning. In the few transactions which were made, prices in advance of last week were almost without exception obtained.
The market turned, for the time being at least, for the better.

Better prices are being asked generally, all the line for sugar stocks, and there is not much of a disposition to sell noticeable. The advanced prices, and the disinclination of the holders to sell, may be taken to indicate that confidence in the killing of a free-sugar-in-three-years clause is strong.

And what is growing, sugar stocks seem to be growing with it, with most of them being held until something definite is heard from Washington.
Of the transactions made this morning sugar stocks, Oahu leads.
It sold between boards and during the session for $50, a quarter point over the selling price Saturday. It sold a week ago for $48 1/2.

Hawaiian Commercial was sold for 25.25, or an advance of .25 since its last sale Saturday. Twenty shares were turned over at that price. Three hundred shares brought a quarter point more on Saturday, $9.25 being the price ruling today. McBryde sold at 2.50, dropping off .25 since its last sale Thursday.
